Consciously Created Cinema: The Movie Lover's Guide to the Law of Attraction

Third Real: Conscious Creation Goes Back to the Movies

Brent Marchant is a lifelong movie lover and a longtime practitioner of “conscious creation” (also known as “the law of attraction”), the self-empowering method of manifesting one’s reality. In his books, the award-winning Get the Picture?!: Conscious Creation Goes to the Movies (ISBN 978-1505570168, 2014, available in an updated second edition, <http://booklaunch.io/brent%20marchant/get-the-picture>), Consciously Created Cinema: The Movie Lover's Guide to the Law of Attraction (ISBN 978-1495976643, 2014, <http://booklaunch.io/brent%20marchant/consciously-created-cinema>) and Third Real: Conscious Creation Goes Back to the Movies (ISBN 978-1976207501, 2017, <http://booklaunch.io/brent%20marchant/third-real>), Brent combines these two topics, showing how movies can be drawn upon for inspiration in learning how to make use of conscious creation in our everyday lives. He covers this unique fusion of topics with wit, insight and commonsense practicality, both in his writings and in his frequent media appearances. Brent has been a regular guest on many Internet and broadcast radio shows over the years, including as a regular contributor to Frankiesense & More, The Seeker's Path and New Consciousness Review radio, and he has addressed his subject from a variety of perspectives, some options for which are outlined below:

Conscious Creation Goes to the Movies

This basic approach to the subject explains what conscious creation is all about and shows how movies illustrate its principles. This format incorporates information on films from a wide variety of genres, including comedies, dramas, classics, science fiction and more.

The Conscious Creation Road Map

In this format, the author discusses the key concepts of conscious creation point by point, showing how they build upon and integrate with one another and offering examples to explain each step of the process. This approach works especially well when ample air time is available.

Conscious Creation in Current Films

This is an especially popular offering during movie awards season. This format looks at recent releases in terms of how they illustrate conscious creation principles. This information can be supplemented with background information on the subject and additional film examples from Brent's books.

Current Trends, Current Films and Conscious Creation

If art reflects life, and life reflects art, in either case it all begins with conscious creation. This approach examines how current social, political and other trends begin from within and spring forth into materialization, with art forms like film reflecting those developments and furthering their emergence.

Pick a Genre

Have a particular type of film that you like? This format allows you to pick your pleasure, be it romance, comedy, science fiction or whatever else you like, and use it as the basis for a focused conversation about how such films illustrate conscious creation principles. This information can be supplemented with background information on the subject from Brent's books.

Pick an Application

In a similar vein, do you have a particular conscious creation application you'd like to explore? Be it vocation, spirituality, creativity, love, health or whatever else you wish to know about, this approach explores films that address conscious creation as it's applied to a particular endeavor. This information can be supplemented with background information on the subject from Brent's books.

Movies That Are Out of This World

Or out of this reality! This format focuses on movies that examine the uncharted territory of unexplored probabilities, the edge aspects of conscious creation, all of which are indeed possible as long as one believes.

Customize Your Format

Have an idea not discussed here? Let's talk about it and customize it to fit your needs.
